Mr. W. G. Whitfield returned from a hunt and brought back a very fine specimen of a deer for which he was offered $5. He killed two but was unable to get the other one.

TOPERS THREE.

Judge Saunders Deals Out St Chunks to Them.

H. Atherton, of South Third street, L. T. Jones, a section foreman and Harry Showers, a forlorn stranger from St. Louis, were presented in Judge Saunders court this morning on a charge of being drunk.

Atherton has been up frequently before, and always goes home to create a disturbance when he begins drinking.

Judge Saunders advised him to quit drinking, that then his wife might return to him. Atherton replied that he never intended to drink another drop and that he would leave town if the judge would let him go.

"I don't want you to leave town, you are too good a workman," replied the judge, "and besides you tell that same tale of woe every time you get before me. $1 and costs."

Showers said he was en route home to St. Louis to spend Christmas, and as he could offer no excuse for getting too much, was assessed the usual amount.

The other man wasn't in court, but his fine was the same as the others.

A happy man is always a healthy one. It is impossible to be happy or cheerful or useful when one is suffering from a discomfiting cold or a nasty little cough. It's wonderful that people will go on from day to day suffering from these distressing disorders when relief is so easily obtained. Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey cures coughs and colds of all descriptions. It is swift and sure. Sold by all druggists.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

Items of Interest Relative to the Railroads and Railroad People.

N. C. AND ST. L. RAILROAD.

Mr. Jas. Haden is the latest addition to the circular force.

Mr. J. G. Henry and son, of Paris arrived in the city this a. m.

Charles Scott is suffering with a deep set bad cold, but keeps a grinding.

Mr. J. W. Farmer and Mr. E. P. Phillips, of Murray, are in the city today.

Shipments of live stock are becoming a big feature in the road's business.

Chief Clerk J. R. Dorris is quite sick and has been confined to his bed since Sunday.

Judge Bill Reed and daughter, Miss Lulu, were in on the turn around this a. m. from Beaton.

Mr. W. A. Ward, of Nashville, came in on the morning train and is stopping at the New Richmond.

Mr. John Nance and wife left this morning for Whitesboro, Texas, to spend the holidays with relatives.

Mrs. W. A. Perry and children returned home Saturday night, after a long visit to her sister at Bowling Green.

Jake Levy, the hustling cigar drummer, left on the turn around yesterday for Paris and is working that city today.

Engine 125, Griffa and Hicks for artists was out on through freight today instead of the 122 held in for slight repairs.

Conductor Bob Austin checked the seals and took the numbers on a string of loads three blocks long on local out this a. m.

Officers Cross and Johnson will guard the slumbers of the good and make trouble for the bad citizens this week on the night shift.

Geo. Knox, an old time twister on this line, was in Memphis yesterday mixing with the boys. George is now on "The Mountain."

Elbert Buck, who has been with the switch crew at Jackson, Tenn., some months, has been relieved there and is back in train service.

Noah Wandel, the floating gang boss, is in the city with his ears shipped until after the holidays, his work being suspended for that time.

Earl Worick was the diamond heaver on the ancient 1 this a. m., as he rolled away on the tie train. Engineer Jas. Spence worked off the putty.

Engineer Jas. Herring and Tom Engert are back, having been out the best part of last week on a tie train, but they did not get to Nashville.

Conductor Austin's crew, assisted by the section gang, loaded 142 bales of cotton, yesterday at Wildersville. It was destined for St. Louis and Nashville.

Mr. W. H. Russell, a former express messenger on the Perryville branch, when the American had the road, is said to be quite sick at the I. C. railroad hospital.

G. C. Chan, now in charge of the Casey barber shop at 435 Third street, wants all the railroad boys to give him a call. As a tonsorial artist he ranks above high "C."

Officer Toke Etter has been confined to his bed for three or four days with lumbago. He was some better last night. The boys will all be glad to see Toke out again.

Supt. of Public Schools of Hickman county, C. A. Kennedy and bride (nee Miss Stahl, of Clinton, Ky.) were passengers in from Paris yesterday morning, where they have been spending the honey moon.

Last Saturday a collision occurred in Memphis between two switch engines belonging respectively to the K. C. and I. C. roads on Broadway not far from Main street. Nobody hurt but both engines were considerably damaged.

Frank Dunkin, the night yard master at Memphis, came in on 103 last night to see his family. Mrs. Dunkin will not move to Memphis for some weeks yet. "Dank" looks as if Memphis agrees with him.

Engineer Joe Habacker, of the 307 on the lower end local, and Ben Rodgers, of the 306 on this end, have exchanged throttles until after the holidays. It must be that Paducah holds some strong attraction for Joe.

Trainmaster Joe Rork and Conductor Atwood left on 104 this a. m. to join a party of hunters down about Hatchie river. Judging from the hunting outfit and dogs they took along the price of game will take a tumble in the markets.

Texas excursion travel is heavy just now. Six sections of the through mail train over Little Rock & Memphis road arrived in Memphis today, loaded down with residents of the Sunset State, going to spend the holidays among the scenes of their childhood's days.

An old time hurricane doctor, speaking of the difference in the size of freight cars used now a-days and the little old 1600 pounds capacity boxes of twenty-five years ago, represented it thusly: "Then we had box cars; now we pull warehouses," and it does look that way.

Nice Bath Rooms in Connection.

Will find dress an important thing to be considered, says a woman writer.

Although I will not go as far as to say that a woman's heart has ever been broken by a badly brushed hat, I have known a woman to look at a hairdressing shop and decide that even if she could ever consent to pillow her head upon such an uncomfortable-looking spot the loud vivacity of the waistcoat beneath would make rest quite impossible. I am not going to tell you that to wear. That is the work of mightier intellects than mine. And there are the young lady male impersonators of the variety stage to copy. These represent the woman's ideal of man's clothing. I may, however, prove myself useful in telling you what not to wear. To begin with, there is one rule you should have written on your mirrors. It is this:

Do not dress like a genius, even if you are one.

The average woman has a strong aversion to go out with a gentleman who—because laurel wreaths have gone out of fashion—substitutes for them long hair, short trousers, decollete shirts and a generally carefully arranged dishabille.

The average woman is a silly little thing, you know, and she would rather that you looked commonplace and well groomed than that every newsboy with an intellectual glint.

As for the woman above the average—well, she knows that you're not a genius, anyhow. You can't fool her with freak neckties and doorknob studs.

Remember that I am directing your feelings to meet the tastes of the majority of women. There are ladies who go riding on tandem bicycles with gentlemen who wear red suits, and some women love the society of a necktie or vest that almost glows.

The ring, watchchain and bracelet habit is popular with young ladies who stand on the other side of the footlights and have a taste for anything that differs even if it isn't smart.

If this class of lady you may be lured by their scornful, but a large percentage of the weaker sex prefer to do all the glittering that is to be done themselves.—N. Y. World.

Queer Concert Receipts.

While once making a professional tour round the world, Mrs. Trebelli agreed to sing at a concert at the Society Islands for a third of the evening's receipts. She was rather surprised, though not displeased, with her share. When counted over it consisted of 20 pigs, 40 turkeys, 95 chickens, 3,000 coconuts and an immense quantity of bananas, oranges and lemons.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Convincing Oath.

A young man employed in a downtown wholesale house has a most solemn way of affirming a fact that is brought into question. If anyone expresses the slightest doubt as to the truth of any statement he immediately brings conviction by asseverating: "Hope to lose my right hand if it isn't true."

The other day a friend asked him into a saloon to have a drink.

"Well, I have. Hope to lose my right hand if I ever take another drink."

"Hope to lose my right hand if it isn't true."

"Don't try to tell me that."

"Well, I have. Hope to lose my right hand if I ever take another drink."

"Hope to lose my right hand if it isn't true."

The swinging doors of the saloon came together at that moment and nearly amputated four of his finger. Five minutes later he was holding a cocktail in a bandaged hand.—San Francisco Chronicle.
